

Solidarity list

Students pair up to brainstorm and write up a list of three things they have in common, such as number of siblings, favorite food, favorite or least favorite subject in school, and so on.

After making the list, students take turns telling a story about one of their commonalities.

After each student in the pair tells their story, the partners split up and look for someone else who has at least one list item that is the same.

The game continues for several rounds as time allows. Come back to the larger group to discuss.
