COMING FALL 2016
A NEW APPROACH TO LEARNING

ASU 340 (12-1:15 T/Th) -- PROMOTING SUCCESS FOR ALL CHILDREN
An innovative opportunity for junior and senior majors/minors in The Sanford School

Interested in applying your skills and knowledge to helping children be successful?
Have a desire to apply your talents and make a difference?
Want to learn how to be entrepreneurial and work with others who have similar goals and desires?

If so, we have a unique opportunity for you!

- Earn 9 hours of credit (FAS/SOC 460 – Leadership; FAS 498 – Perspectives on Care and Compassion, and CDE 356 – Race and Child Development)
- Work in teams on an innovative project developed by you and your teammates.
- Learn about important social issues facing children and families through active learning rather than classroom lectures and exams.
- Build 21st century skills that are valuable in today’s world - such as teamwork, communication, and decision-making - which have the potential to make a difference for disadvantaged children, youth, and families.
- Solve real-world problems while developing a deep understanding of concepts related to family dynamics, child development, and social justice.
- Be mentored by experienced ASU faculty.

This experience is based on Solutions Based Learning (SBL). SBL is a method in which students gain knowledge and skills by working for an extended period of time to investigate and create solutions that respond to complex and engaging questions and challenges. Students make real-world connections to what they are learning.

Join us in this effort in making a difference. Make your ideas come alive and learn how to translate what you have learned into a plan for action.

By permission only. Limited space. Don’t delay.

Contact:
Professor Richard Fabes - rfabes@asu.edu
Professor Laura Hanish - Ihanish@asu.edu

thesanfordschool.asu.edu