

FULL-TIME 12-MONTH SOCIOLOGY LECTURER POSITION

The T. Denny Sanford School of Social and Family Dynamics (<http://thesanfordschool.org>) invites applications for a full-time fiscal year (July 1-June 30), non-tenure eligible teaching position as Lecturer beginning July 2020. The successful candidate will be expected to teach online and/or face-to-face sociology undergraduate classes with large enrollments and graduate courses in the online terminal MA program. The candidate is expected to teach a variety of sociology courses such as Introductory Sociology, Social Problems, Race and Ethnicity, Gender, and/or Sexuality. Candidates who can also teach in the areas of popular culture, aging, environmental sociology, or science and technology are encouraged to apply. The successful candidate may also have service obligations commensurate with teaching assignment.

A full-time teaching load will include up to five classes each fall and spring semester (either 15-week courses and/or 7.5-week courses) and two in the summer (6-week courses).

For this position, the ideal candidate must:

- be a Ph.D. candidate in Sociology or a closely-related field
- show evidence of successful teaching at the college level—preferably in large classes

Preference will be given to candidates who

- have a Ph.D. by the time of appointment
- demonstrated success in meeting the needs of diverse student populations and/or diverse communities
- are familiar with instructional tools such as Canvas.

Complete applications will be reviewed beginning March 21, 2020; if not filled, applications may be considered every week thereafter until the search is closed. To apply, submit the following through <http://apply.interfolio.com/73751> that includes: 1) a letter of application describing your teaching background and interests, 2) a curriculum vitae, 3) evidence of successful teaching such as teaching evaluations, samples of instructional materials; 4) two letters of recommendation, and 5) a statement addressing how your contributions to diversity and inclusion will advance ASU's commitment to inclusive excellence.

The College values our cultural and intellectual diversity, and continually strives to foster a welcoming and inclusive environment. We are especially interested in applicants who can strengthen the diversity of the academic community.
